Green atreet, between Th rd and Foarth. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1866

We publish in the Journal of tod. v the e nelu ion of Judge Ni holas s address, which will appear entire in the next We ky Johnnal The address challerges i e consideration of the public. We hope that no citizen will omit carefully to read and ponder it. The main feature of the all ress is the recommendation of a convention for proposing arrend ments to the Federal Constitution. This next We ky Jonrnal The address chalments to the Federal Constitution. This recommendation, as we have intimated before we cordially approve We believe our national troubles. And we coufess the more experience it seems to us. The telegraph at no ne is that the New York World counsels the Southern States to offer some kind of an amendate that the true way to get out of the present discribing is by the spontaneous action of the South itself. When the Southern states have all rejected the amendment, as they certainly will, and have thereby demonstrated that they are masters of the situation, so far as that measure is concerned, we trust that they will by some method of joint action, make a counterposition. If the World here er-prop sition. If the World here means a counter-proposition in the form of an amendment which Congress shall propose as a condition of representation the suggestion is inadmis ble, not merely because the sectional pride of C ngress would take fire at the thought of pr pos ng an amendment dictated by the South, but because the South is undenia bly entitled to representation nuder the Constitution as it is, whence to ask the South itself to present an amendment as the condition of representation is to ask it to fashion the badge of its own inequality and forge the fetters of its own shame. The suggestion is unjust as well as impractreab e. We take it for granted that the World means no su h connter-proposition as this The South consistently withits own honor can ratify no amendment which is proposed as a condition of representation, and to ask the South itself to present an amendment which shall be proposed as such a condition would be simply a refinement of the inherent and orig inal injestice of the measure Until the South without dishonor cannot ratify any amendment proposed by Congress And Congress 's resolved that the South shall not be represented until it ratifies such amendments as Congress may see fit to propose. Such is now the situation. In view of this situation, what counter pr pos in ean the South honorably 100 PIANOS AND ORGANS make? For our own part, we see t one and that is a prop tion in favor of a convection for pr p ing amendments to tle Constitution. The South, if it chose, could henorably ratify the amendments pr posed y such a c nventi n, becauthe South as well as the North would represented therein, while the power of u t mately rejecting the amendm nts would furnish ample security against any 1 -5-He effect of the preponderance of the North in the body. But there is a strong probal ty that such a body would prosafely ratify. The question of h n r baing settled, the only question would be one of expediency, which the South would certain y weigh and decide in no sprat of captionsness. As for the North, there can be no reasonable of ject in t. su-h a conven r. inasmuch as that section would have in its own hands the control of the body. We, therefore, con lude that th proposition of a constitutional convention is a counter-proposition which the - u h might honora y make, and the North wisely adopt. And we are inc nel to behere that, if the Legislatures of the ten excluded States, together with the Legis latures of Kentneky, Maryland, and Delware should apply to Congress to call such & c nyention under the fifth article of the Constitution, the radical party of the North would not stand out against the application, or would do so at the peril of a mortal defeat in the next Presidential election. The application at any rate could do no harm, and it might lead to the pacification of the country. It is worth

We accordingly unite heartily with Judge Nicholas in calling upon the Legislature of Kentucky to initiate this movement and to bespeak for it the favorable c as d ration of the other Legislatures of the S h. The initiative properly bere to Kentucky by virtue not only of her political and geographical situation by f Ler past initiative. Kentucky, it wil e remembered, led off in favor of a constit tional convention in 1-61, and but for the passions kindled y the reduction of S mpter, she might have witness d the success of the movement, and the country have been saved the calam t es of the war The movement failed, however and the result is before the world The movement was then the only one which promised to avert the calamities of war It is now the only one which promises to net an end to those calamities, and restore the leadings of peace Let Kentucky again lead off in the movement, and she may not fail. She may succeed, and, when the peace and safety and glory of cur country are at stake, the possibility of success is incentive enough. For l'ogli newspapers do not cons der American news worth paying the calle price for. They wait for the atcamers, as Lefore We presume there isn t in this co ntry a newspaper that doesn't know that Enropean news isn't worth paying the calle price for. If our newspaers had the independence to express their real convictions and act upon them, the cable news in their columns would be discontinued at once, and witho t a dissenting voice.

One of the radical organs says that we advocate all the measures of the Administration. Do we advocate the retention of Jeff Davis in prison? Do we advocate the withholding of an Executive proclamation of general amnesty?

The Indianapolis Herald, a conservative paper, suggests that the conservatives set apart a day to pray for the Chi- LOUISVILLE, MY.

cago Times It isn't necessary that they set apart a day to corse it That they do every day. When the Southern States said that

This is a correct view, and we have, in two or three late articles, presented it to that it points out the true method of our readers and endeavored to impress it breaking on the dead-lock to which the apon their minds. The chief States that country has been brought, and of ending veted in the late elections certainly exhibit remarkably small lisparity in the the more we consider the recommenda. comparative strength of the two opposing > the result of the next elections from that air of those that have just taken place would be exceedingly absurd. It would be silly, even in ordinary times, but in times like these it would be proposterous to the last degree. A breath of wind, as our New York cotemporary remarks, might change HAVING RETURNED FROM the political positions of the great States, ut, instead of a breath of wind, we are to have tremendous storms, Northern, Sonthern, Eastern, and Western storms, all roaring around us and perhaps revolutionizing the whole political aspect of the

The vote of the great States, so close has it been, so small the majority in pro portion to the whole population, scarcely aff rds even eire mstantial evidence as to what is l.kely to be hereafter. It seems to be like those vast swinging-rocks, which notwithstanding their vast weight, are so evenly balanced upon their centres that even the hand of a boy might move them.

The politician who boasts that he is 'any urchasable' is generally unsalable.

The Peniau triuls, which have occupied the court during the past eleven days, v. 1 close temperarily on Saturday next, as the court will not sit during the term. It was at first supposed that such of the prisoners as had not been 'rought to trial hotore the court rose have to await their trials at the January assize, but it is probable that an arrangement will be made by which they will be brought before a court so ner. A special order is expected to issue in a few days for holding their trials immediately after the term closes a fortnight from next Monday, and it will be Mr. Haggar y sum to take up the business at that time.

Two Fenians were discharged from costody yesterday, sufficient evidence to place them on trial not being forth oming, and two more will edischarged to day for similar reasons.

Convenient.—Captain Pratt, the Superintendent of the City Railway, has just fitted up a very neat room at the corner of Twelfth and Rowan streets for the accommodation of such passengers as may be detained a few minutes in changing cars. During the cold weather all who may have to wait a few moments will feel obliged to Captain Pratt that they are not compelled to stand on the corner and feel the keen sweep of the cutting north wind as it blows its gusty hreath over the river.

We learn from Captain Robert Karns, Agent for the Marietta and Cincinnati railroad, that half-fare tickets will be furnished the Masons attending the celebration at Balt-more. Round trip seventeen dollars.
